EDITORIALS.

Those Southern Democrats who mounted the chairs at a Waldorf-Ast oria banquet last week and sang "I wish I was in Dixie" might be remind ed that many friends join in the wish.

If Christ is given a very wide range in the big Sunday Tabernacle there will be no way found to draw the col or line. Even though all the pictures of angels are white, the devil is not pictured as black and religion is not founded upon art alone.

Judge Dyer of the United States federal court has issued an injunction against the enforcement of the St.
Louis segregation ordinance. He said some very brave things concerning the rights of colored people, but of course had to say: "The Negro does not de sire social equality." Certainly not.
The Negro deems himself far too good to socialize with a very large class of white people, especially that type of transient renters who voted against the St. Louis Negro home owners.

Betty & Sam's Little Corner

THEY SAY

—That Prof. Robert G. Jackson does things right. If you heard "Hiawatha" you think so, too.

—That money is the root of all evil but there has been many a happy face since the election.

—That it's easier to show a man that he's in error than to show him how to correct that error.

—That since the price of shoes has gone up the young men have been pondering over the question: "To love or not to love."

—That a certain society lady was heard to say: "Watch me cut any body who doesn't come my way." Some power, eh?

—That "bustin' up and reorganizing" seems to be the fad in Colored Women's Clubs. What's the matter ladies; can't you get along?

—That recently a lady's home was burglarized and in the excitement she said: "Oh, my, if they left my $10.00 boots, I don't care if they took every thing else."

—That a lady was giving a party the other day and just as the guests were being served, an expressman came for hubby's trunk. Too bad, wasn't it?

—That there will be so many June weddings that some are talking of starting 10-cent clubs for presents.
There will sure be some long lists then, won't there?

—That an old Negro was recently arrested and taken before the municipal judge to answer to the charge of vagrancy.

"What do you do?" asked the judge.
"Nuthin'," he answered.
"What do you usually do?"
"Nuthin'."
"What are you worth then?"
"Nuthin'."

To this the judge smiled and said:
"I believe you have spoken truthfully so you may go."

Table Talk.

For the past few days matters have been a trifle balled up at the Claridge hotel, says the New York Mail. A. H.
Billiard of Meriden, Conn., and J. C.
Pool of Springfield, Mass., although to tal strangers to each other, arrived at the hotel at the same hour one night.
The room clerk, when he noticed the combination, turned as white as chalk, but, taking his cue from a run of simi lar surprises, easily bridged the diffi culty. Quickly he called Kelley from the cushions at the side rail, adjusted his diamonds, peered into the rack, scratched his ear, picked up a bottle and extracted from it a pill, and in rotation shot a look of welcome at the men, carefully pocketing his emo tions.

The Public Pose.

"The author of this novel says the heroine lost herself in a maze of reflec tions, as she and the hero stood by the railing of an ocean liner." "And what was the hero doing?" "This is one of those society novels. Can't you guess what the hero was doing?"
"He was toying with a silver cigarette case."

CITY'S ISRAEL IN MOURNING

War Has Played Havoc With London's Second-Hand Business in Men's Clothing.

There is sorrow in Judea and mourn ing in the tents of Israel. At least, this applies to that large and hitherto flourishing section which is especially interested in the vending of second hand clothing. Several marts wherein the impetuous were wont to be smartly endowed with "West end mis fits" have been closed down altogether, and others are feeling a severe draft created by the blast of the war trumpet.

"We cannot get the stuff," is the cry of the beady-eyed salesmen with the crisped hair, lurking mournfully behind a deserted counter. The war affects the second-hand clothing trade in two ways. First, the young knut whose cast-off raiment was the main stay of the business is now in khaki.
He has not troubled his tailor in the matter of civilian clothes for many months. Formerly a brisk trade was done in the morning coats and lounge suits discarded by young and fastid ious officers. These were eagerly bought up by the city clerks and oth ers whose means were not equal to their taste in attire. Now that source of supply is cut off. The military Brum mel is living, and has been for months in a suit of torn and mud-stained khaki. Furthermore, many hundreds of young dudes have joined the army since the outbreak of the war. So that channel is stopped up, and the disconsolate Israelite repeats his mournful cry: "We cannot get the stuff."—London Globe.

Kitchener Not to Resign.

London, Feb. 10.—Reports that Lord Kitchener is soon to leave the war
